Several years ago, the administration began to feel the need for a larger campus. We were outgrowing the Grovedale school, and even after the freshmen were transferred to their own campus (Maybrook), it got to the point where every classroom was occupied every period. Filled to capacity, and with so many others wanting to come, bids were made on a number of available places. But God did not see fit to open the doors to any of these because He had something much better for us.

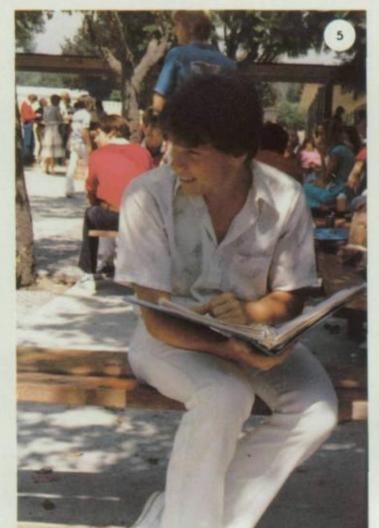

The Starbuck campus, located only minutes from the Beach (boulevard, that is!) became our new home. Due to vandalism, the condition of the grounds required a great deal of fixing up. The exterior had to be completely painted, along with all the lockers. A fence, costing over $11,000, was placed around the perimeter of the buildings. The actual move only took three days, but remodeling work put the offices in a state of confusion for quite a while. The staff operated in unfinished rooms and the telephones didn't work until a couple days before school opened.

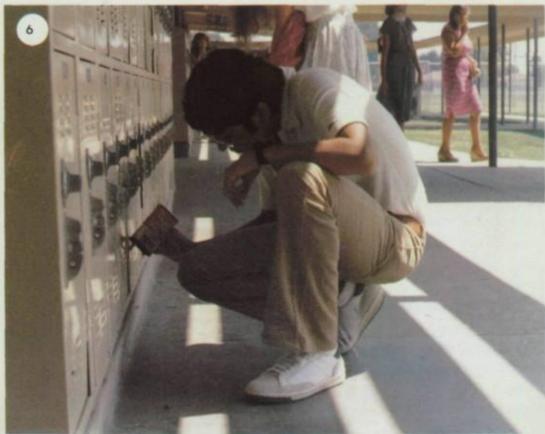

1. Laura Baker, Mike Silvio, and Rebekah Wilson can't decide whether to go to school or to the beach. 2. At registration, lines are as long as the ones at Disneyland and buzzing with the same excitement. 3. Cheryl Kienel takes a break from her paper moche work to smile at the photographer. 4. Joani Taylor, Gloria Cabrera, and Dotty Engstrom beg Mr. Endemano for his autograph. 5. James Rice tries hard to keep his mind on his studies, but there are more important things going on. 6. On the first day of school, Fernando Sauceda III makes major repairs on his locker.

TT'S GGER AND BETTER!

The "showers" of blessings God poured out on us greatly outweighed the problems. There was room to grow and the facilities were so much better! Mr. Metzger was excited about the school year and commented that there was a "neat spirit" on campus. Students, when asked to comment on their reactions to the move gave replies such as, "I think it's great — it seems more like a high school now" (Colleen Ramsey), "I like the campus because it's bigger and nicer, but I don't like it because I have to go from one end to the other for my classes" (Sheila Liscano), "It's bigger, not so crowded" (Julie Aguilar), "I like the campus because it is closer to my home and I have to ride my bike" (Doug Goodcase), Derick Boyd summed it up when he said, "It is about time!"

There were close to eight hundred students at the opening of school who were exposed to the many changes and new benefits. A registration and book pick-up time was held one day before school officially opened. Surprised students stared at the strange-looking stalls and after they figured out that they were showers, most people continued to stare. Our library was enlarged and became more complete. New classes such as woodshop and journalism were made available to the students and many classes such as home-ec, drafting, and art were blessed with much helpful equipment.

Whittier Christian has moved up and will continue to move up in this world. God has given us great success, but He has also given to those who believe in Him a glorious hope. We are, in a sense, "movin' up" to Heaven, our eternal home. The trip might seem long and rough, but we never have to fear that we won't make it!

> With "showers" of blessings, God filled our cup. Now and forever -We're Movin' Up!!

IN DEDICATION TO MR. GARY PATE

The Many Faces of Mr. Pare!

He does things he doesn't have to. Chaperone choir tour? Why not? He takes kidding from the students, and I mean a lot!

He cares about us so much. He's funny and he's warm. When he was Carol Burnett at a Big-Sis Party. the girls started to storm.

He's cool and a regular guy; he always keeps his word. And he entertains through music ... have you heard?

He's handled many a schedule change and he's helped student council excel. He's a very respected person who teaches AP History so well.

What would cross-country do without him? How could they even run? He always goes the "extra lap" and that's not even a pun!

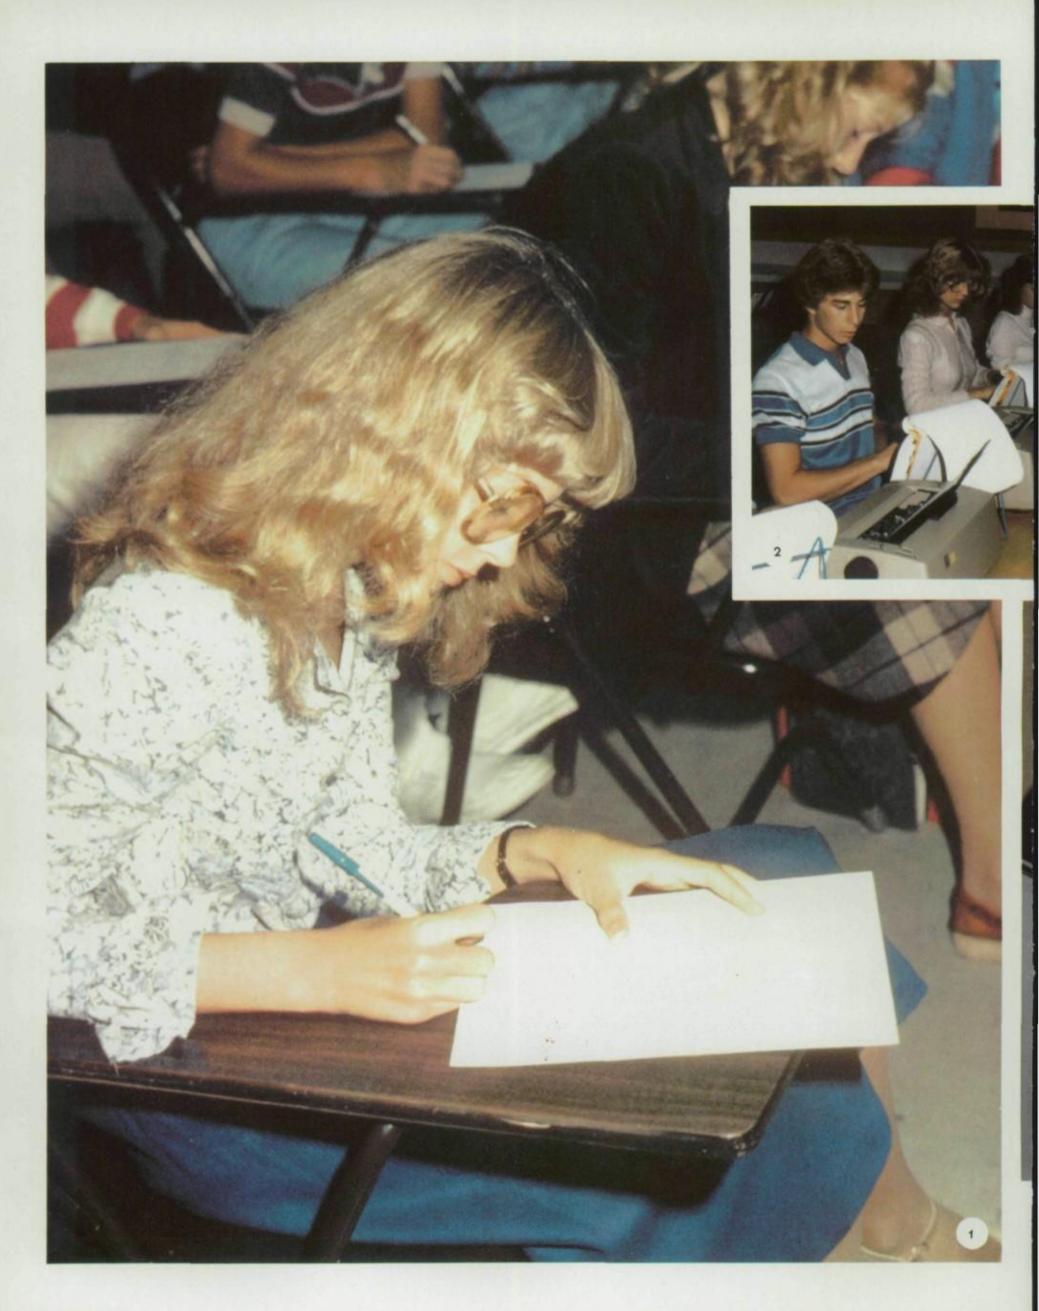

It's been said that he knows everyone's name, and that's really greatl Do you know who I'm talking about? You're right . . . It's M.. Patel

(The above poem was inspired by and based upon comments from WCHS students.)

1. Mr. Pate concentrates on transferring Jim Holtz out of English into crosscountry. 2. Mr. Pate: "Oh no!! Troy's running the wrong way!" 3. Mr. Pate: "No thanks guys, I already ate." 4. # Administrators Move Mountains

During the summer months, each of the administrators faced problems with the move to Starbuck. Mr. Mark Metzger stated that "the rundown condition of the campus" was a major problem. Mr. Gary Pate found himself struggling over schedules in the middle of a classroom, as his office was still uncompleted. "Trying to work in the midst of construction was the hardest part," he said.

Even though it was a hard move, the administration really felt that it was worth the time and money. Mrs. Juanita Webb was pleased that all the main offices were moved to one campus. The facilities and working areas were all improved, but the best part of the move was that it provided more room. Mrs. Jan Mustin had more room for group counseling. "It's more like a high school campus now," stated Mr. Mark Schrock.

On the Maybrook Campus, Mrs. Lois Freeman, a former teacher, "enjoyed" her role as principal, and "loved" working with the students.

After two years in Brazil. Miss Sue Moore returned to counsel the freshmen girls with the idea that Jesus Christ is interested in them and wants to be involved in every minute of their lives. Also involved with counseling was Mr. Dave Herron. He wanted each ninth grade boy to "accept himself for who and what he is."

New Staff Meets Needs

"Ring, ring!!" "My locker won't open!" Pleas such as these were heard and answered each day by the secretaries and staff. As our campus size increased, four new staff members were added. Mrs. Larsen was a secretary at Maybrook and Mrs. Weber worked in the Starbuck attendance office. Mrs. Jenisch joined Mrs. Day in our bigger library. Mrs. Redhair worked as a telephone receptionist. New and old members alike contributed to the overall "moving up" of our school.

1. Mrs. Pollock: "Your car didn't start . . . that's a likely excuse." 2. Mr. Goldsmith: "Who stuck the gum in this locker?" 3. It's obvious that Mrs. Weber enjoys working at Whittier Christian. 4. Mrs. Day: "What book did you have in mind?" 5. Miss Long: "Hurry up and take this picture, I've got lots of printing to do." 6. Mrs. Redhair: "Hello, it's a beautiful day on the campus of Whittier Christian . . . " 7. Balanced books bring a smile to Mrs. Hart's face. 8. Answering the phone is one of the many responsibilities that Mrs. Larsen has. 9. Mrs. Mack: "Hmmm, let's see . . ."

Academic Awards

As the saying goes, "Hard work pays off." Those students who studied and received good grades were rewarded for their efforts through various awards.

The Freshmen students who excelled overall in academics, social, athletic and spiritual areas, and were the most involved, were given the Outstanding Freshman Award.

Another award for Freshmen and Sophomores was the NEDT award for the students who scored 90% or above on the Teachers recommended students who excelled in certain fields for the Bank of America award. They competed in the areas of fine arts, liberal arts, science and math, and vocational arts.

The Soroptimist winner was selected by Mrs. Jan Mustin. This award was given to the student who was most actively involved in the community.

High Schools involved in the ACSI program sent students to compete in the Academic Decathlon, a type of olympics where academics were stressed rather than sports. Gold, silver, and bronze medals were awarded to the winners. The students competed in six written tests in Math, English and other areas, a prepared speech, an impromptu speech, and an essay. The final event was a super quiz game.

See You at the Top

Richer Life/FFL

Every freshman was required to take a one semester class which combined Richer Life and Foundations for Learning. Mr. Don Davis felt that Richer Life set the stage for having the right attitudes to carry the students through high school. Mr. Domene agreed with him and added that the importance of knowing and understanding the Lord was a goal to work towards. Foundations for Learning gave the students a chance to establish their own goals and find means to achieve those goals. In the first quarter they were taught how to become a better student. The following quarter they developed attitudes which not only helped them with their school work, but also their Christian walk. Not only the students were affected, but also Mr. Davis who felt a change in his own life to love and care for others. Richer Life and Foundations for Learning helped the freshmen to realize that attitudes directly affect accomplishments.

1. Mr. Domene's got the answer to this one! 2. It's nice to get homework done at school. 3. Three heads are better than one! 4. "And the lucky winner is . . ." 5. Dan Mackey: "I interviewed everyone you wanted me tol" 6. "All I asked was ..." 7. "Father" Davis blesses his senior Bible class.

Bible

Knowing that God wants His children to become spiritually mature so that they can become spiritually selfsustaining was the goal that Mr. Leon Davis had for his senior Bible class. During the year, he taught them how to "bandage up their own sore toes," and to be prepared to get out into the world. Mr. Tom Caffrey's freshman Bible class introduced the students to the figure of Christianity which is Jesus Christ. They learned the different responsibilities of the Christian way of life. Mr. Caffrey stressed that they should never quit because God always forgives and forgets. The sophomores learned that Jesus Christ does offer the best life possible, according to Mr. Steve Endemano, who is in his second year of teaching sophomore Bible. He feels that each Christian should keep in mind that "for me to live is Christ and to die is gain." (Phil. 1:29) Each teacher tried to not only talk about having a life style which represented Jesus Christ, but also to live it.

English

Those involved in the English field saw some new faces and some new courses added to their department. On the Starbuck campus, Mrs. Paige Harder joined the staff as the Career English teacher. This class was designed to prepare those students who were interested in the business world.

Besides the four basic classes of English, two new courses were added: Christian literature and Poetry, both taught by Miss Linda Esbenshade.

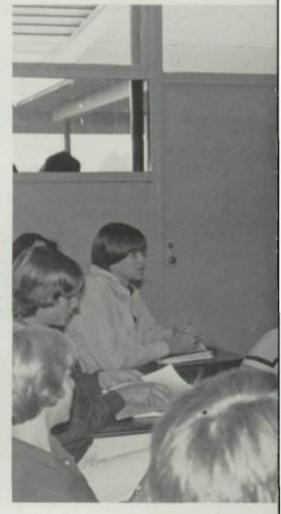

All English was not taught in the classroom. The A.P. class, taught by Miss Diane Landfear, and several of the junior classes, had the opportunity to not only study the book, but also to see the movie, "Huckleberry Finn," at the Fullerton Fox Theater. This was a creative and interesting approach to an otherwise routine assignment.

1. Mr. Domene strives to impress upon his students the importance of reading. 2. Mr. Schrock: "James, this is not an audition for the Sound of Music." 3. A studious Jeff Daniels is hard at work on his English assignment. 4. Although this may look like a fight, Brian Lipkowski and David Carr are only acting out a scene from Great Expectations. 5. Mr. Bowman: "If I've told you once, I've told you a hundred times, Germany is not in the U.S. 6. Ted Methot ponders over a difficult French assignment. 7. Deisi Amador: "Why me?"

Mr. Gary Bowman English, German, Bible

Mr. Bob Brown Marh, Accounting, Business

Foreign Language

Mr. Mark Schrock, teacher of Spanish II and III, headed up the foreign language department, which also included French and German. Spanish is especially prominent in Southern California. Since the society is bilingual, it proves to be a great asset in both the business world, and when applying for a job. By knowing and understanding a second language, it is easier to communicate, especially when entering a foreign country. Along with Mr. Schrock in the Spanish field was Miss Beverly Dobrenen.

Mrs. Beth Day tackled the French students on her own, while Mr. Gary Bowman had his hands full with the Germans. Both these languages added a third year class, due to their popularity.

Each of the three departments tried to teach each student to communicate well in a second language. and have an understanding of the differences in cultures. Tapes and filmstrips were purchased to help the students and teachers.

Driving to See the Stars

Sophomore Studies

Driving defensively, eating nutritiously and saving a life what do these three topics have in common? They were all taught in a course called Sophomore Studies. Depending on their age, every sophomore either took driver's education and first aid for one semester and then health, or vice versa.

Teaching this course for his first year was Mr. Bill Cuccia. He felt that the most difficult thing for a driver to remember was the responsibility of driving defensively and using cautious awareness when behind the wheel. Regarding the Health class, he felt that because our bodies are the temple of the Holy Spirit. we should be taught how to properly care for them.

1. Sophomores study 2. Mr. Rudisill: "Why are all the fish floating on top of the water?" 3. Miss Costley: "Bugs look interesting under a microscope." 4. Chris Moreno dreams of buying a Ferrari. 5. ### Science

The elements of a larger room, more space for storage and a greater amount of work area helped create a better arrangement for the Science classes. Also, the water facility was doubled therefore adequate access was available.

"More stress was placed on Christian philosophy including creationism," quoted Mr. Gardner, the head of the Science department. This required students to memorize a few Bible verses which reminded them that without God, there would be nothing.

Sum It Up

Math

Capable sophomores added both Algebra II and Geometry to their schedule in preparation for Calculus their senior year. The math department initiated this accelerated learning for students interested in pursuing math. Computers strengthened the program in the Math IV class. In the words of Michelle Hutton, the computers were "quite an experience".

Miss Turner was the math department chairperson. Her responsibilites included writing accreditation reports, observing other teachers in math classes and organizing paper work.

Eight different types of math were included in the sum of thirty math classes offered. Together, they totaled an outstanding department.

1. Calculus is no laughing matter for Dan Adent. Mr. Endemano and Ruth Ruiz. 2. Michelle Chase tries hard not to count with her fingers. 3. Wayne Schriver: "These computers aren't like they used to be." 4. Closing his eyes, Rusty Coffelt tries to learn Algebra II through osmosis. 5. Sharon Levsen puzzles over an "Impossible" proof. 6. Pam DeFalco works diligently on quadrisonics. 7. Amy and Carrie let their fingers do the typing.

Business

Whoever heard of a typing class without typewriters? Well, you can believe it because the week prior to the opening of school, the typewriters were not even built yet. An IBM worker misread the order for only one typewriter, when in fact it should have been twenty-seven. The teachers, in the meantime, taught as much as they could, using wall charts until the typewriters arrived.

Mr. Bob Brown was the head of the business department and the teacher of Accounting and Business Law. Accounting consisted basically of learning to keep the financial records of a business, and Business Law was an introduction on how to prevent legal difficulties. The Business section included Accounting 1, 2, Business Law, General Business, Shorthand, Typing 1, 2.

Making History

History

New books, more learning games, and role playing were added to the History department. Mr. Mcllhenny's junior classes received new books which emphasized traditional character growth and the importance of values. In his words, the books were "excellent."

Mr. Hilderbrand's senior history classes were involved in a modern diplomacy game which was developed by Mr. McIlhenny. Each class divided up into different make-believe countries such as Calizonia, Europia, and Garbania. Each group chose a president and negotiator. They all voted on issues such as offshore fishing rights and the use of atomic bombs.

1. Mr. McIlhenny: "This town ain't big enough for the two of us." 2. Sharon Packard sews seams skillfully with her "Singer." 3. Tami Slick rips at the seams for the twenty-ninth time! 4. Sheila: "This assignment is a joke!" 5. The senior history class listens intently to their lesson. 6. It's "sew" easy! 7. Debbie McClintock: "Just a few more snips and it'll all be over."

Home Economics

"Likewise I want women to adorn themselves with proper clothing modestly and discretely, not only with braided hair and gold or pearls or costly garments; but rather by means of good works, as befits women making a claim to godliness." I Timothy 2:9, 10 was the key verse stated Mrs. Debbie Opfer, in inspiring her students in Home Economics. Outside of teaching these basic principles of food preparation, nutrition, clothing selection and sewing techniques. Mrs. Opfer strove to nurture each student's level of creativity and ability to complete a project successfully.

Each group of girls had their own kitchen equipment with a refrigerator, stove oven, and sink. With the new room came large storage cabinets and even a dressing room. Mrs. Opfer felt the most important thing to stress to the students was "Clean up!" "The outward appearance should reflect our habits and beliefs."

Picture Perfect

Instead of having the cramped quarters of the kitchen at the Grovedale campus, the photo classes had a dark room included in their classroom. This was made possible due to the spacious facilities at the Starbuck campus. Drafting and photo used the same room. The larger room also made it possible for the school to purchase twenty drafting tables and machines. They also bought drafting paper with the school's name on it and a blue print machine was loaned to the school permanently by Rio Hondo College. Mr. Barcroft taught both of these electives, and according to him, "teaching is a challenge and I love it!"

Woodshop

"Sit down, be quiet, and listen" are the words most often heard in Mr. Barcroft's woodshop class. After his first year of teaching the class, he felt that safety was a very important rule to stress, especially around the machinery. When the students used the saws, they were required to wear goggles with no watches worn and sleeves rolled up at all times. Wood and glue were the two ingredients used to create fantastic pieces of furniture and carvings such as tables, chairs, and stools. Mr. Barcroft referred to his class as a furniture making class by the use of machinery. When he was asked what motivated him and the students spiritually, he answered, "After all, didn't Noah build an ark?"

Creative Outlets

Art

Being creative in Miss Debbie Danielson's terms referred to having her students sit on the floor covered with blankets on the first day of Art I. The tables for her class which had been purchased from Lowell had not been delivered yet. Besides sitting on the floor, the students explored into working with the mediums of water color, charcoal, pen and pencil. In her second year of teaching Art I, Miss Danielson said, "I love working with freshmen! They're so creative!" Crafts was a practical class in which students learned to make things to give as gifts or decorate their rooms. Some of the things they made were candles, macrame and hangers, Christmas ornaments, and simulated stained glass. Miss Joan Ogg, after her fifth year in teaching arts and crafts still found it challenging. Her favorite kind of art was watercolor and Intaglio. She believed that "God has given all of us creativity, initiating us to apply and use our gift, and to feel good about our gift."

Dramatic Speech

Speech

According to Miss Diane Landfear, teacher of the speech class, the words that best describe it are "interesting, provocative, and well-seasoned." There was a lot of variety, so the class never became dull.

Throughout the year, they covered the areas of expository speech, oral interpretation, persuasive speech, impromptu, reader's theater, radio, and debate. The students, if they wanted to for extra credit, could partcipate in tournaments with other high schools and colleges. They also had a chance to compete in the Lion's Club competition.

Miss Landfear's goal was to provide a variety of speaking situations so that each student was able to find out what he or she did best, and become the best speaker he could.

Drama

Mrs. Paige Harder, a newcomer to our campus, also experienced a new teaching position, as drama teacher. She "enjoyed it tremendously." When asked to define drama, she expressed it as a time of sharing with others. She had plans for a big play in which anyone who was interested could participate. Throughout the class periods they had the experience of doing skits, mime, reader's theater, sketches, and play production. The class was exposed to many types of drama. Mrs. Harder felt each student had potential. It took "concentration, hard work, and willingness to learn new things and to be criticised on the things they learned."

Shaping Up

Boys' and Girls' P.E.

After her sixth year of teaching physical education, Miss Nadene Ruhe was asked why she chose to teach the course. She answered simply, "I love sports and enjoy being outdoors." The P.E. room on the new campus was larger than the ones in past years. They included showers, however most girls chose not to use them. Both boys and girls used the weight room to tone and firm their bodies. Miss Ruhe strongly believes that "our bodies are the temple of God and we should take care of them."

Self-control, cooperation and effort described Mr. Steward's physical education classes. After his eighth year in teaching he felt these key words were very important in understanding and working on attitude. The new showers that were avialable were not required, but stressed after a hot day of soccer or basketball. In teaching P.E. he felt that the important thing to stress was "how to cope with self and strive to do the very best in everything you do."

1. "Oh no! Wrong side!" 2. "Didn't think! could do it, did you?!" 3. "This is an awfully heavy shotput." 4. "Why do we keep getting closer to the girls?" 5. "Future Lakers?" 6. "Hike!" 7. "It's raining!"

Fun Filled Freshmen

The freshman clsss was filled with activity generated by the fund raisers. The freshmen were also energetic in their Tupperware selling, becoming the top class for money earned. The cookie sales and the jog-a-thon were also big hits on the freshman campus.

The freshmen sported a very full activity list as well. To get freshmen unity started, the girls got together for an outrageous slumber party in the Starbuck auditorium. The Halloween party was frightfully fun and the Christmas trip to see the play "Scrooge" was a merry event.

The freshmen feel that they are very spirited and have a close bond of caring and friendship in their class. They were excited about this period of changing and growing.

As class sponsor, Mr. Don Davis tried to be as involved as possible in all the aspects of the freshman campus. He tried to have the kids approach life from God's viewpoint and he also tried to help them learn how to respond in the right way to authority through his position as detention supervisor.

SIGNING CHERYL RAIN

Cheryl's life centers around her church, Southern Baptist Church of La Habra. Through sign language, she interprets the message and music for the deaf. Cheryl has been studying sign language for the past four and a half years and signs for about six people every week at church. Her involvement in sign language sparked her to perform a song in sign language at the Christmas Concert. Cheryl plans to work with the deaf and dumb as a career.

Cheryl enjoys school and the people. She said, "I wanted to go where Christ is the center of the School."

PAUL NETHINGTON

Paul's life centers around music and sports. Trumpet, baritone, and French horn are the instruments he plays. Music is important as seen through his participation in band. Paul has also been a member of the Cavaller Marching Band that travels wherever opportunity allows.

Soccer is what Paul lives during the season. He plays soccer in the Whittier Area Youth Soccer League and hopes to teach a team of youths soon.

Paul's Christian attitude is apparent when he says, "I hope to make myself a better person and Christian this year."

RON JOHNSON

God blessed Ron with a talent for solving problems - mathematical ones. Ron participated in the National Math Competition League in which he placed first in the league. He competes with other schools through the advanced algebra class.

Ron is not all math. He rounds out his academic life with music and sports. In music, he sings in the freshman choir. Having taken six years of plano has lead to being the organist at church. He enjoys sports and especially likes baseball.

MUSICAL JENNI CARR

The Salvation Army is the special project in which Jenni is involved. Every Wednesday night she practices timbrells with the band and hopes to travel with them to Canada this summer. The band is very active in performing: The Rose Parade, Sunday afternoon concerts, and tours.

At her church, Salvation Army Church in Hollywood, Jenni sang a solo in the musical, "Same Old Story."

Jenni also plays trumpet in the school band. In addition to music, Jenni participates in student government. She is the freshman class treasurer. Jenni likes to share her talents with others.

Sophomore Class Demonstrates Unity

The main goal of the Sophomore Class Council was to bring their class closer together by planning things that they would come to and enjoy. The class also wanted to include the freshmen in many things, so that they would feel part of what was going on. "They are so far away because of the different campuses anyway, and we just think it would be nice to help them as much as possible," said Diane Robles, the class Social Chairman.

Even with two different campuses, the council all agreed that the Starbuck campus was great. Brent Shubin, the class president said "We have a well-divided percentage of students involved in sports, band and other extra-curricular activites."

Shara Fosnight and her mother are volunteers for "Meals on Wheels." Not only do they make meal deliveries, but they also make many friends while doing this. Shara's love for others takes her to Mexico once a month to do various odd jobs and to share Christ with the children at a Mexican orphanage. Shara has painted buildings, cleaned house, made meals, and played with the children while visiting there. She showed her love for people by spending her summer as a volunteer at "Smile Day Camp." There she taught children, organized games, and made meals.

"I want to make it big in drama," said John Flick. John is involved in Reader's Theatre which acts for the student body. He also plans to act in some of the harder school plays.

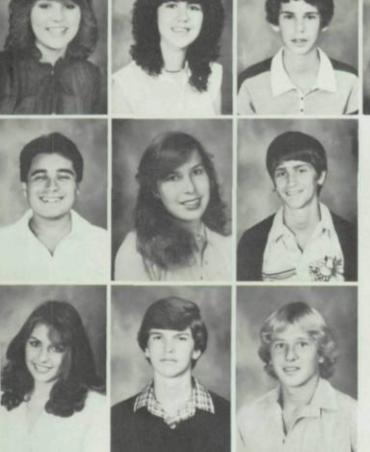

Besides his acting ability, John is also an athlete. He plays on the La Habra Tennis Team which, with his help, won first place in regional playoffs. John helps wildlife expand by raising rabbits and setting them free. He also exercises them to keep them in shape. John would like to use some of the things he has learned at school and become an official pastor of a church some day.

Active Lillian

"I'd like to obtain the feeling of real satisfaction, knowing that I have done my best whether it be academically, in relationships with friends or family, and most importantly with my friend and savior Jesus Christ," said Lillian Valencia. She tried to make the year exciting for the sophomore class as Social Chairperson by planning unusual but fun activities. Lillian aided the school with her athletic ability by receiving her letter on the varsity volleyball team and by being the most inspirational player on the varsity basketball team. She also competed with the marching units as a banner carrier. Lillian's spare time was sometimes spent with a young, handicapped girl she met through her church's special education program.

Chris has many very elderly friends whom he has met doing volunteer work at a retirement home. Chris gets to witness and bring cheer to the lives of many of the senior citizens while helping them do odd jobs and just being their friend. Several times Chris has been offered some of these elderly folk's delicious salt free strained meals. Chris is on the Junior Varsity Cross Country Team and ran twice on Varsity. Chris enjoys acting and participating in Reader's Theatre.

Juniors Reach For Success

The Junior Class Council had lots of new things to get used to, including a new campus and a new sponsor; Mr. Keith McKinney. Mr. McKinney was new at this job, but with President Rusty Coffelt's help, everything worked out great, as most everyone was responsible for the Jr. Sr. banquet which was held at the Queen Mary in Long Beach. Lisa Thompson, the V.P. said "that the fund raisers this year brought in lots of money." It was enough to have a great J.S. at least, and that was the basic goal for the council!

Some of the fund raisers were: Pom-pon sales at the first home league basketball game, a hot dog sale on the last day of school vacation, a fruit cake sale, a doughnut sale, and others including the Jog-a-thon.

Marni Decker, the class social chairman said that she will "be glad to take a break at the end of the year even though it's been lots of fun."

BUSY LISA MELTVEDT

Lisa's life is a busy one. Besides being involved in annual staff and some art work for various projects, she is involved in Whittier's Assistance League. This is a philanthropic organization that gives their free time to help out the blind, deaf, handicapped, elderly invalids, and the abused children at McLaren Hall. This also includes helping with the Saturday shift at Presbyterian Hospital for Meals on Wheels. Meals on Wheels is an organization in which Lisa administers to the elderly by passing out hot or cold meals to them.

SMILING RENEE HARTUNG

Sports are Renee's number one involvement and she does her share in supporting her teammates. She was voted most improved player last year in volleyball and broadened her abilities in basketball and track.

Renee is actively involved in her community. She was a candy striper at Whittier Hospital. She brought comfort and a smile to many first-time patients.

As an elder on the high school board at Granada Heights Friends Church she has been involved in planning activities for their group.

Renee has made a vital contribution to our school. She enjoys friends and the Christian environment here and, as Renee says, "I would like to strengthen friendships this year."

Mark is involved in Calvary Orthodox Presbyterian Church where he is a janitorial contractor (fancy words for janitor). He ministers to the elderly people in his community by helping them with their yard work.

Mark's helpfulness shows every day.

She participates in Young Peoples' Fellowship which are engaged in supporting the poor people in Mexico. Patricia also regularly visits retirement homes sponsored by her church, St. Matthais. Besides all of this, she still finds time to work at a bakery.

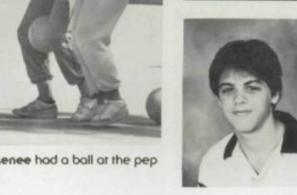

Patricia enjoys the Christian fellowship and the friends at school. One of Patricia's goals is "to stay close with God." She likes to give of herself and work with people.

STUDENT LIFE

Spirit week freed everyone to dress crazy, act strange, be all around weird, and get enthused for the upcoming game!

Monday was "Wide World of Sports Day!" People came as football players, golfers, surfers, skilers, and anything else that was "sporty". Tuesday was "Happy Days", and there was an epidemic of greased hair, bobby sox, pony tails and poodle skirts! Wednesday was "Debbie Pappie Preppy Day". and pink and green dominated our Red and White campus. Several people were noted with pencils over their ears. Thursday was "I Spy" Day. Trench coats, dark glasses and big hats gave the uneasy feeling that our secrets were not safe! Friday was "Urban Cowboy" Day and had, by far, the biggest turn out of participants. Everyone (including the cowgirls) wore jeans and western plaid shirts.

1. Colleen Ramsey, "It feels good to be back." 2. Dana Lindenau shows off her 50's spirit. 3. Jennifer Williams, "Al Capone is at me again." 4. Steve Smith, Greg Herd, and Kevin Blickem," "This stupid machine got our dime."

Freedom Reigns

Let's Get Fired Up

Hardworking cheerleaders thought up exciting games and special cheers for our pep assemblies during the year.

Night pep assemblies were especially interesting and fun because the people that were there came because they chose to. Class competition and games, along with our male cheerleading squad, and an all-girl football team, made the pep rally a definite success.

"A Dream of Realty" came true for Dana Betz as the 1980-81 Homecoming Queen, Nanci Marquez, crowned her the 1981-82 Queen. Members of the court were driven around the field in T-top Corvettes. The student council obtained these cars from a club called Corvettes Southern California. Each of the girls chose a special song, but the main song for the evening was the theme from "Endless Love". Their fathers helped the girls from the cars, and then their escorts walked them down the field to await the crowning. Only three people, Mr. Pate, Daniel Adent and Dennis Briley knew ahead of time who was to be the Queen.

A Night to Remember

Student Council members spent much time in planning Homecoming. There were five committees; ceremony, sound, reception, programs, and invitations. They spent five hours on Saturday preparing St. Paul field and the reception room, using pink and lavender for their main colors. Much other time was also needed for doing such things as hand-lettering each invitation, which consisted of approximately 200. Everything turned out really well and none of the committees ran into any major problems.

Showtime!

Get ready folks it's showtime here once again with our Whittier Christian Drill Team. Their summer was busy with workouts starting June 30th, twice a week from 5:00 P.M. to 7:00 P.M. During band camp 9:00 A.M.-3:00 P.M. all that week. The sparkly new look in their uniforms was voted on by the girls from among three other choices. They have been working hard at perfecting their routines and their success was evident by the awards they received. At drill team camp the officers received second place in competition against other teams. Their performance in parades was outstanding. In Tustin they received second place, in Montebello third place and in Lester Oaks a superior first place! They altogether performed in six parades and nine half-time shows. Their new advisor was Mrs. Smith . . . "Who has motivated, disciplined and praised us throughout the year," said Karin Martell a member of the drill team. Mrs. Smith said there are several reasons for their closeness as a group, one of them was, "We always begin and end with the beautiful song 'We are one bond of love." One of the biggest assets to their success was a time set aside for sharing and praying to the Lord. A quote from Mrs. Smith: "Drill team is a beautiful training ground for learning how to apply God's principles for living life."

1. Laura Cummings leads the team off the field during halftime. 2. Stacey Fahrenbach: "Mrs. Smith, you always said to smile!" 3. Jan Auldridge proudly leads the team during a parade. 4. Christy Brown and Kim Lariscy: "Wow, listen to that crowd!" 5. Karin Martell: "AHH-YEWW-WEE! Why aren't we doing anything?" 6. Brena Peters: "If we do this one more time I know I will break down." 7. Bonnie Wolff: "Step right up folks, the show is this way." 8. Laura Blackmer and Jan Auldridge: "Get ready team, we are about to take off."

Flying in the Breeze . . .

The tall flags enhanced viewers with their precision routines. This, and representing their Lord "in the finest possible fashion" were their goals. They devoted hours to practice and gave 100%.

Being a member of tall flag meant more than just performing at parades, band reviews, half-time shows, and pep rallies. They also performed at a Dodgers pregame ceremony and Disneyland. Traveling together gave them a chance to have fun and socialize with the band and drill team. In competing with public schools, they had a chance to share their testimony and ministry with others. Thanks to Mrs. Opfer, the tall flag's sponsor, they had a great year!

1. Nancy Palmer concentrates on perfecting her routine. 2. "I pledge allegiance 3. Mrs. Opfer, Tall Flags Sponsor. 4. Tall Flags: Charla Baker, Sonja Baughman, Deanne Hornbaker, Janet Deyarmond, Melanie Johnson, Leanne Ehrlle, Jill Hitchcock, and Nancy Palmer.

1. Jeff Morgan: "It's harder holding it than playing it!" 2. James Rice concentrates on keeping the rhythm. 3. Cam Chambers: "Marjorettes are always the center of attention." 4. Mr. Jim Lee encourages the band members to put enthusiasm into their music. 5. Band Members: Flutes - Annabelle Bonilla, Cheryl Evans, Denise Fogal, Shara Fosnight, Michelle Gutierrez, Ann Hanson, Lynda Lehmann, Julie Mack, Lorene Martinez, Ruth Narro, Karen Richards, Myla Salmon, Becky Wilson. #### Band Wins Sweepstakes

Receiving the Tustin Tiller Days Sweepstakes Trophy was a highlight for the band. This was the first sweepstakes award received by the band in the history of the school. Two other honors were performing at Disneyland and participating in the Dodger pregame ceremonies.

During the year, the band competed against eight schools, marched in five parades, performed in six halftime shows and three concerts. A pep band including brass and woodwinds played at basketball games. Their enthusiasm led the teams on to victory.

The band's goal was to glorify God and their school throughout the year. Band Director Steve Opfer commented, "It takes a lot of hard work; they did a super job!"

1. A spirited member of the pep band welcomes the basketball team onto the court with the herald theme song. (Karen Richards). 2. Bob Linnes blows the other team off the court. 3. Mr. Steve Opfer keeps everyone in step. 4. Charles Olivarez, "The man for the job." 5. The band plays at the football games during half-time.

People Making News

Journalism expanded the curriculum giving creative writers an opportunity to have their work printed. Mrs. Kerry Veale divided the class creating two newspaper staffs. The first issue of "The Herald" was sold for a dime. The paper was supported mainly by ads and personals. Neal Klein's father printed the first two issues for free at his print shop in Los Angeles. The newspaper staff took a field trip to the shop to see printing in action.

Articles in the newspaper included student and teacher features, updates on sports, a section for messages and the latest news. Mrs. Veale encouraged originality and the newspaper got off to a good start.

1. Neal Klein always takes the credit. 2. The classic columnist, Beverly Chan, is hard at work as usual. 3. Anna Begay and Cam Chambers proofread copy for the next issue of "The Herald." 4. Newspaper Staff: Mrs. Kerry Veale, Rick Thompson, Neal Klein, John Pendergraf, Ruth Narro, Ruth Ruiz, Debbie Hayes, Karen Ramirez, Kris McCarron, Carrie Gerold, Beverly Chan, Anna Begay, Kim Horning, Jeff Suzuki, Brian Bowlin, Cherylnne Maclin, Tim Fedel, Lisa Thompson.
5. Mrs. Veale instructs the class.

Getting Off the Ground

What does it take to get a balloon off the ground? A lot of hot air and some firing up. For the yearbook staff, the process began during the summer as the editor, assistant editor, head photographer, and advisor attended a week long workshop at Westmont College. The hot air was provided by the many lectures which were heard on the various aspects of yearbook, from layout to design to picture taking. Then the four staff members were able to bring back all they had learned along with exciting new ideas to fire up the rest of the staff, and they all began to rise.

Organization and unity among the staff were both improved. Each section of the book had three to four members to work on it and each section had its own photographer. Unity developed as they participated in a beach party, a car rally, a trip to Magic Mountain and several late worknights. Any animosities the staff had for each other were taken care of by papering houses, and violent water balloon fights. Each staff member played a part in choosing the theme and each one contributed to the high rise of the year-book balloon.

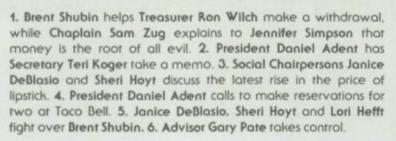

1. Ruth Ruiz: "I'm never too busy for a picture." Tom Waller: "I gotta jam! I gotta get some sleep." 3. Troy McConnell: "Hey, Ferg: could you handle some photo orders for me?" 4. Mike DiPeppino: "You lost my rolf of film!?!" 5. Fernando "Fergie" Sauceda III: "I'm a pro . . . What more can I say!?" 6. Kristi Mohn: "You've got to be kidding! The deadlne is tomorrow?" 7. Lisa Kalachian: "I told you Rod was cute." 8. Dan Biering: "I'll even ear this table if you guys will sell ods!" 9. Karlyn Hammond: "And you thought valedictorians had no social life!" 10. Michelle Hutton: "Vinegar? I'd NEVER do anything like that!" 11. Ann Nilsen: "Maybe if I close my eyes, all this work will disappear." 12. Karen Kalugin: "These lare work nights are getting to me!" 13. Debbie Danielson: "Well, it takes 42 cups of coffee, 32 candy bars and a Geritol EVERY DAY!!" 14. Lisa Methot: "I didn't get any cookies!" 18. Steve Harvey: "I didn't know what I was getting into when I asked if I could help." 19. Lisa Meltvedt: "I designed this myself." 20. Todd Montgomery: "I would smile, but this peanut butter stuck to the roof of my mouth."

Voice of the Student Body

The student council is the voice of the student body in the administrative branch of the school. Why does this voice exist and when is it heard? Mr. Gary Pate, advisor, counselor and friend to many, gave this answer, "This governing body of students exists in order to become the spiritual leaders on campus and to give the average student something to look up to."

What did the student council accomplish? For one thing, the student council was responsible for planning all major A.S.B. activities on campus, such as Homecoming, the Christmas Party and the Hearts and Flowers Banquet. They also organized all student-orientated fund raisers in order to raise money for the benefit of the entire student body.

Thanks to the student council, the student body enjoyed many well-sponsored social activities.

Make a Joyful Noise!

Due to much practice, Sonlight was very successful. They rehearsed forty-five minutes each day and one and a half hours after school each Wednesday. Besides the exciting performances at Magic Mountain, Whittwood Mall, and the Nazarene Christian School, they had approximately fifteen performances at churches. According to one of the members, Mrs. Smith's choreography "keeps everybody's attention." The members of the Herald Chorale enjoyed the opportunities to sing and develop lasting friendships. Working together as a group also helped them to grow spiritually.

When asked what she thinks of Mrs. Smith, choir member Christine Eighme replied, "I think she is wonderful; I admire her." Mrs. Smith spent much time working with the choirs, and their performances were evidence of her hard work.

Heavenly Voices

The Freshman Choir was an inspiration to all those who came into contact with their heavenly voices. The Freshman choir enhanced listeners at several performances with their on-key singing and their acute choreography. "Thanks to Mrs. Smith," as one choir member put it, "our group has developed into a natural singing force."

Unity was the key. In order to give successful performances everybody had to work together. The freshmen found this key, and used it to their benefit.

Mr. Gary Hilderbrand was the master chess player. He also taught others to be masters of the board. The chess club met three times a week on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

There were always between ten and twelve people that spent their lunches with the kings and queens, and all their men.

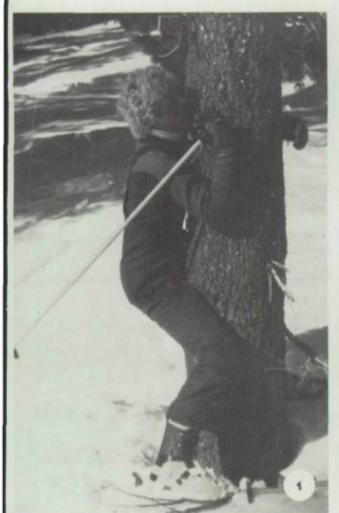

Mr. Hilderbrand said it was better because there were "more people on a regular basis.

Jumping Moguls

"Join the WCHS Ski Team" was a slogan used by the ski club in selling shirts. They sold red shirts with a dove on the back and printing that said, "Whittier Christian Ski Team." The idea behind these shirts was to help lower the cost of food and lodging on their trips. The ski team made their first trip to Mammoth in the High Sierras. Forty-two students left Friday after semester finals for a three-day weekend of skiing. The weather was beautiful. Although many beginners flew down the mountain coming to a sudden stop facedown in the snow, there were no casualties. Two more ski trips to the local mountains were also a part of their activities. The club has not voted in officers, but with the volunteered help of many seniors, all the extra planning and work was accomplished. According to one of the sponsors, Miss Ogg, the members of the club showed "a lot more interest" than previous years.

Momentous Events

During the year the world played witness to many momentous events. We saw a royal couple, Lady Diana Spencer and Prince Charles, married at St. Paul's Cathedral. A world leader, Anwar Sadat, was murdered by four Muslim machine gunners while he sat watching a military parade. In the East, there were a series of killings. These lasted for 24 months in Atlanta, Georgia. A total of 28 children were killed. For the first time a woman, Sandra Day O'Connor, was elected to the U.S. Supreme Court. The President also elected to make drastic economic cutbacks. "They still won't believe us, but we are going to balance this budget by 1984." commented Ronald Reagan. Even baseball had its difficulties, the season was divided due to a 50 day strike between owners and players. Finally on a lighter note, we saw the Los Angeles Dodgers defeating the New York Yankees in the 78th Annual World Series.

What would high school be like without catchy fads and trends? Keep in style with your alligator shirt, topsiders, Legwarmers, metallic purse, and headband, and you're set for a day at school. Then, on the weekend, a few games of Pac-Man and a few hours fiddling around with your Rubic's Cube, and you're temporarily "cool." After spending a month's paycheck, you begin to wonder, "How long will this last?" But soon you'll "take off" to keep up with the next fad.

Working to Reach the Top

Spiritual Emphasis Week

Students faced a confusing schedule as they entered second semester. Because of the small auditorium, Mr. Gary Pate had to juggle the schedules to accomodate all the students for Spiritual Emphasis Week. Freshmen were bused from Maybrook to join the Starbuck students. The speaker, Mike Slater, from Temple Baptist Church in La Habra spoke twice each day. It was the general opinion of the students that he was a very good speaker, and according to Ann Nilsen, "he never lost your attention." Devoting his time into a four-part talk on Christian lifestyle, he enriched many lives through his teachings. His topics included "A Sense of Specialness", "The Ministry of God Within Us", "Supportive Friendship," and "A Lifestyle of Obedience."

Also this week, was the special guest speaker, Bob Beeman. He presented a two and a half hour slide show/talk on rock music. Bringing out many interesting points on the detrimental aspects of the music, he was very informative.

1. Mike Slater speaks on "Lifestyles in Christ." 2. Bob Beeman prepares for his rock presentation. 3. A concerned Mike Slater listens to a student.

Freshmen arrived at the Starbuck campus the first day of Spiritual Life Emphasis Week. However, a phone call that morning informed the administrators that the speaker was ill and could not be at school to speak. So the school choir filled in with special music and testimonies. Spiritual Life Emphasis Week was postponed and classes continued as normal the rest of the week.

Chaplain Sam Zug introduced special speakers and musical groups for chapels every Tuesday. Mr. Ron Hafer, from Biola University, spoke on the points of praising God even through times of pressure. Speaking on keeping harmony in the home, Mr. Robert Cranning from Forest Home, stated that you have to keep peace at home if you expect to have it in your other relationships. The school mime team and choirs performed as well as a group from Los Angeles Baptist College.

Chapels

1. Dr. Mitchell speaks on the importance of total dedication to God. 2. Mr. Pate: "Okay folks, let's keep the noise level down." 3. The mime team takes a bow after a performance of "The Toy Store." 4. Chaplain, Sam Zug, gives announcements. 5. Melissa Knight shares her testimony through her gift of music. 6. Through reading, reader's theatre brings to life "The Gift of the Magi." 7. Dr. Herzog talks on the importance of not letting your contacts trouble you.

Old Fashioned Christmas

Dramatic and musical talent displayed at the Christmas Concert kept the audience captivated. Members of the band played traditional Christmas carols including "The Hallelujah Chorus." "The Toy Store", a heart warming presentation by the mime team, emphasized the true meaning of Christmas. The entire program which followed the theme, "Old Fashioned Christmas" was narrated by Patty Anderson. She played the part of a girl sharing her feelings through reading her diary. Crystal Lutke and Todd Morgan blended together in their duet, "Go Tell It On The Mountain". Teen Inspiration, Girls' Ensemble, Herald Chorale, and Mixed Ensemble demonstrated hard work and happy faces. The program rekindled the love of Christmas in the hearts of those present.

1. Mr. Jim Lee directs the band in "AIR" from "The Messiah". 2. Band directing is such a part of Mr. Opfer that he can do it in his sleep. 3. Children anticipate their "father", Mark McMahan, reading the Christmas story as Crystal Lutke sings, "Tell me the Story of Jesus". 4. Section leader, James Rice, keeps tempo.

Senior Features

Lori Ward

In December, Whittier Christian High School gained a new student, Lori Ward. Previous to coming here, Lori went to Conroe High School in Texas where she lived since the sixth grade. Not being heavily involved in school, Lori spent her time working as a part time clerk for Ecko Drugs.

After her move, Lori began attending Long Beach Brethren Church. At first, she did not want to attend a Christian school, but after seeing a film at her new church, she changed her mind. The film made her decide that she "wanted to meet better people" and go to a "better school".

In her free time, Lori likes playing tennis, bowling, rollerskating, and especially horsebackriding. Lori's goal for the school year is to get good grades. After finishing high school she plans to attend UCLA or USC, and would like to be an interior designer.

Jeni Mohn

When asked why she wanted to attend W.C.H.S., Jeni replied "I wanted to grow to be a stronger Christian through deep relationships with Christian friends, and a wholesome atmosphere," Jeni developed many friendships and was voted one of the "most giving" people on campus. Her giving attitude showed through the time she spent doing house-cleaning for the elderly. She also made time in her busy schedule to be the Senior Class Secretary and to be one of the school mascots. As mascot she added a smiling face and bubbly personality in front of the crowd as she helped promote school spirit. In her extra time she loved doing things such as riding her horse, doing calligraphy, and spending time, as she said, with her "wonderful boyfriend". She plans to attend Cal State Fullerton, in preparation for an elementary school credential. When asked what advice she leaves to others she replied, "get involved... be a part; people really are fun!".

Mary Waller

Mary Waller is involved in both her community and school. Interested in sports, she has played softball her freshman, sophomore, and senior year. The positions she plays are first base and right field. Last summer Mary spent her time coaching the "Mini-Miners." which is a Whittier softball league team.

Mary's interest in animals attracted her to the 4-H Club. She likes horses, and recently spent time training her friend's for her. She raises and shows sheep. Not only does she have two of her own that she raises and breeds, but she buys them too. Mary is also involved in another area of the 4-H Club; which is to be in charge of a ladies league because of her position as Teen Leader Advisor.

Another part of her busy schedule is her job, through which she became a member of the city commerce. Her position as public relations for Chucky Cheese means that she attends such things as Surf Soccer games, and Little League games and advertises for Chucky Cheese.

Going to Hawaii is what Mary plans to do after graduation; and then go to college the next fall. When asked what advice she leaves to the underclassmen when she graduates, Mary simply replied, 'Hang in there!".

Phil Burrus

"I like to think of myself as friendly," said Phil Burrus with a smile. He is not only friendly, but also involved. As a member of the Red Cross, Phil was on call if there would happen to be any disasters. Because of his interest in electronics, he works for a cable T.V. franchise called "Century Communications", in which he designed amplifiers. Phil was also involved at school. He enjoyed music, and sang in the school "Sonlight". In the ensemble. band, he played the trombone. It was given to him anonymously at band camp. Phil's goal was to enjoy his senior year. After completing high school he plans to work, attend Cal Poly Pomona, and someday go into the field of engineering.

Dan Biering

Because of his interest in music, Daniel Biering has joined many singing groups. At school he is in the Herald Chorale, Sonlight, and he has also been a member of the Men's Quartet for two years. Besides this, he sings in both the sanctuary and the youth choir at Bell Baptist Church in Cudahy. One other way in which he is involved in music is his four-year membership in the school band as a Saxaphone player. The band members voted him equipment manager. He has the duty of loading up the band truck at all parades.

Not only is Dan musically talented, but he also has a great ability for speech. In the Speech Club and Team, he specializes in impromptu and extemporaneous (current events) speech. He is also a member of the National Forensics League.

Dan is on the yearbook staff which he has been involved in for two years. When high school's over, he plans to attend Biola University. He would like to get a degree in music education, and eventually become a teacher.

Sandy Wark Resident Artist

For the first year a junior was chosen to be Resident Artist. Sandy Wark said it was nothing like she expected the job to be. Her main occupation was making bulletin boards. Sandy feels that resident artist is more a job of service than pleasure. Teachers need various projects done and come to the artist for help. Sandy said that she is unsure of an art career but at the present time, "art is something I just enjoy doing."

Powder Puff is Tough

"The powder puff football games were great because they gave us a chance to compete against the other classes and most of all we had a blast!", said Beverly Chan.

In the first game, the juniors and seniors went into overtime, but the juniors scored more yards. 9th grade beat 10th grade and the juniors won overall at St. Paul stadium.

Student Expressions

An all-school artwork and poetry contest was sponsored by the yearbook staff so that students could share their talents with the school. One piece of artwork was chosen from each grade. The four best poems were chosen: two written by ninth and two by eleventh graders.

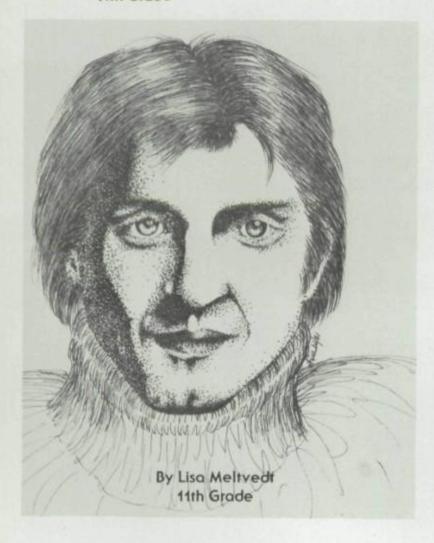

Searching I looked to the sea and saw Your power It beckoned me as You often do.

I looked to the sky and saw Your wisdom And was glad That someone knew all the answers.

I looked to the sand hoping to find a second set of footprints It seems as though I've journeyed this track alone.

I looked to my heart and saw You there, Lord Waiting - patiently To surrender, to you my life

Of Love

My heart broken by those who knew not they had broken it.

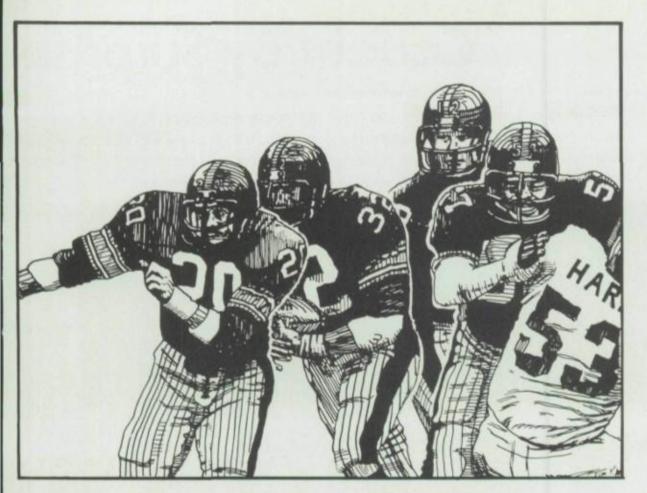

My feelings bruised by those who knew not they had oppressed me.

My very soul torn by those who knew not for whom it had been torn. Are mended anew by the unsurpassed love of the One whose blood was shed for us, on us.

If this is not love . . ..

Time flies by In one school year. Then at the end Comes the very first tear.

How time flies

Sadly awaiting the end Of the day. Choking down tears 'Cause you don't know how to say . . .

You'll miss them.

Then the time comes Everyone's said their goodbyes. One thing comes to mind . . . How time flies.

Time flies by either Fast or Slow, But soon a time comes When you have to go,

Sadly, but freely you drag your feet. "I wonder if in summer We will ever meet?"

Handsewn

I was like an old piece of clothing, And You were my tailor, I was old, beat up, torn at the seams-Ready to be thrown away, But You saw the silver lining, And decided to remake me, Into something useful and fashionable. You took the needle of caring, And the thread of love, You sewed me back together. Now, I'm ready for use.

With Flying Colors

The flagsters showed spirit and brought unity to our campuses through pep assemblies and fund raisers. Because of the campus and its big quad, they had more space to move and have bigger and better class competitions. They worked with the cheerleaders to sell "I Love WC" pins raising money for activities and events to support athletic teams.

One embarrassing moment the flagsters experienced was at the Valley Christian football game. They all ran down to the end zone to do their touchdown routine, when in reality, there hadn't been a touchdown.

According to Janice De Blasio, their goals were to be "God's best advertisement and to always give God the glory in any situation." In the summer, they grew close together and learned how to work well with each other. Their two main Bible verses that encouraged them and characterized the year were Philippians 4:9 and Colossians 3:22-23. These verses were the foundation of their goals.

JV Cheerleaders Win Awards

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders attended camp at Westmont College and won two Superior and one Excellent award. ACSI and the National Cheerleading Association hosted the camp. The NCA staff judged the girls on spirit, togetherness, loudness, and technique. The purpose of the camp was to learn new cheers, to obtain unity, to have fun, and to grow in Christ.

Becoming a cheerleader was new and exciting for the girls. Some were junior high cheerleaders, but in the words of Renee Aviles, "The responsibility of a high school cheerleader involves much more committment." When asked how they felt when chosen to be a cheerleader, Alicia Curtis exclaimed she was, "shocked and didn't believe it." They were quickly accepted by the Varsity cheerleaders. Spending time with them and going camping at Lake Cuchuma, their relationships grew and they felt, said Cheryl Kienel, "that their friendships would last a long time."

The main goal for the cheerleaders was to treat others better than oneself. Colossians 3:12-15 were the verses upon which their thoughts were based. These verses speak of compassion, patience, forgiveness, love, peace, unity, and thankfulness. One way they showed their compassion was by decorating pillowcases for the tired football players, they displayed patience at pep assemblies when no one cheered.

Cheerleaders Sell Spirit Tags

To help promote spirit, the cheerleaders sold spirit tags that said, "I Love WC". The money was used for a dinner for the football players and other various activities. Time was spent in organizing pep rallies and making posters.

Enthusiasm and spirit brought the cheerleaders two superior and one excellent award at summer camp at Westmont College. They were also nominated for the Award of Excellence. Sherri Hoyt was asked to join the National Cheerleading Association squad to tour different states. This was a tremendous honor; only two out of 250 girls were chosen.

"Being a cheerleader is a learning experience. It is a time for finding your comfort in the Lord," said Captain Sherri Hoyt. Philippians 2:2-5 was the verse that reminded the cheerleaders and mascots to have faith that the Lord would get them through their trials.

Spending time together was important for the Varsity Cheerleaders. Striving to obtain unity, Anne Lough was appointed chaplain, and Wednesdays were spent in devotions. They also wanted to represent the school with a positive Christian attitude.

Season Improves

The Junior Varsity Football team made coaches and fans very proud. They did quite well. The head coach of the young Heralds, Mr. Steve Endemano, said that the team improved tremendously during the last half of the season." They finished the season with an overall average of 8-2, which made them third in the league.

Chris Moreno was "an excellent athlete, and a super kicker." He received the Most Valuable Player Award: The Most Improved Player for J.V.'s was Mike Pritchard who did "a super job as defensive back." Tim Yeaw was the Most Inspirational Award winner. "He did a great job as guard, and kept the teams morale high."

Undefeated

It was obvious that we had CIF material out on our field! The head coach, Tom Caffrey said that this team was one of the best ever. The team consisted of many competent players, mostly seniors that had played four years.

The team started off their season with no losses in all of their preleague and scrimmage games. Heralds and Herald fans alike were thrilled at the monumental victories! On into the season, the team kept up their performance to its fullest during all of their league games.

It seemed that they had CIF in the bag: the L.A. Times had them favored to win by a wide margin, and the Herald fans were sure of a victory in the first round of the CIF games for the inland conference. Therefore, when the final score turned out to be 27-21, in the opposing team's favor, the Heralds, and their fans too, were overcome with surprise. People in the stands, and players on the field just couldn't believe that they had lost. Coach Caffrey said that one of the reasons for the loss was because "We went into the game flat, due to overconfidence." The coaches and players all agreed that it was too bad that their most successful season ever-the only major sport that had been undefeated in a single seasonhad to end that way.

Players Awarded

As the season ended, the Heralds came together once again and cast a vote that decided which of their teammates should be awarded the Most Valuable Player Award. It was given to Phil Grace, who also made the 1st team all-league as offensive guard and linebacker. Phil played on the Varsity team three years in a row, and made all-league two of those years. "Phil was a very consistant, solid ballplayer."

Along with the MVP award, the Most Inspirational Player award was given to Kurt Sweetser for inspiring leadership. Kurt made first team all-league safety, and was on the starting line-up two years in a row. "Kurt had a tremendous spirit and attitude that showed both on and off the field." The Most Improved Award was given to Steve Arroyo. Coach Caffrey said that "Although he wasn't a dominating force last year, he did become a dominating, defensive ballplayer this year." Steve led the team in quarterback sacks, and was player of the week three times during the season. The almighty Ironman trophy was awarded to Phil Grace. This is a statistical award and is not voted on. It is given to the player who, in a single season, accumulates the most defensive points. Phil scored 267 points for the Heralds. Near the beginning of the season, Steve Ranson, both the Heralds starting offensive tackle, and starting defensive linebacker, suffered an injury which kept him from playing for the rest of the season. But he was still at every game supporting his team from the sidelines. Coach Caffrey said that "We missed him, but look forward to having him back next year."

Those Heralds which made Olympic all-league 1st team were: Richard Corpis, Kevin LaCroix, Steve Arroyo, Phil Grace, David Hart, and Kurt Sweetser. First team all-league for offense: Richard Corpis, Phil Grace, Kurt Sweetser, Rusty Coffelt (who also made most valuable player in the Olympic league), and Mike Duarte. Second team all-league for defense was: David Jones; For offense: Daniel Adent and Kevin Blickem.

Success Has to Be Shared

Giving God the glory for victory was the attitude of the Freshman volleyball team. I Corinthians 15:57 reflected their attitude. It states, "But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus

Beginning as a potentially strong team, they improved much over the season. There were no set captains, but Coach Ruth Sutton rotated the girls for leadership experience.

Miss Sutton considered a big part of learning to get to know one another and make friends. Her two years of coaching Freshman volleyball taught her that success has to be shared. All the girls have to be included in on the excitement for it to be special.

1. Freshman Valleyball Team: Top row: Miss Ruth Sutton, Jill Ohly, Donna Nilsen, Gail Yarbrough, Leslie Weiss, Judi Anker, Teresa Picconi, Bottom row: Anita Hurlburt, Jacque Lehn, Kelly McCoy. Lisa Casanova, Kim Blickem, Table Begay. Missing: Lisa Campbell. 2. Janel Jennings, stats. 3. Gail Yarbrough gives the ball a two-handed scoop. 4. Judi Anker, "I got it!!" 5. Kelly McCoy demonstrates excellent ballet form. 6. "Up. up. and away!" (Lisa Casanova).

Practice Makes Permanent

Being the first year of coaching volleyball for Mr. Dave Herron, the year could be described as a year of adjustment. "They were a good team and they wanted to play good ball," said Herron.

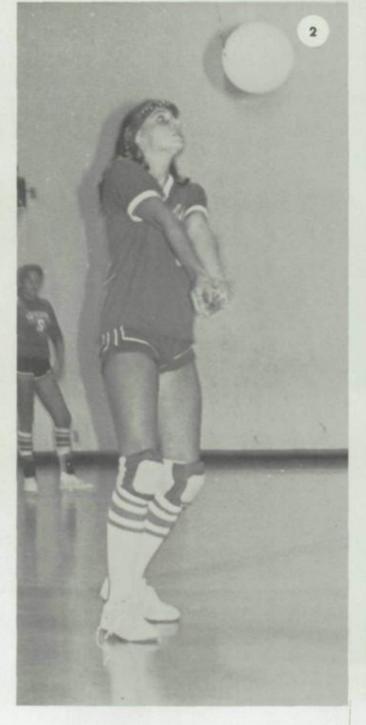

Captains Andi Kalugin and Lori Wilson encouraged the team to keep on improving. Although their record did not show a winning season, the girls displayed potential and a desire to win.

A favorite quote of Herron was, "Practice makes Permanent." He felt that if the girls learned and practiced to play correctly, they would not falter in crucial situations.

Galatians 6:3-4 was the team verse. It states, "For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself. But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another." God gave the girls talents to use for His glory, and they gave Him all honor. "Do not worry about winning – just do your best," said Herron to his team.

1. Andi Kalugin rips the ball over the ner. 2. Caren Sharpenburg sharpens her skill as a player. 3. Carrie Gerold's friends watch as she makes a spectocular back-handed bump. 4. Bottom row: Michelle Chase, Sandy Casarez, Cristina Corpis, Tammy Straite, Caren Sharpenburg, Missing: Cathy Ladd, Renee Padilla, Aleida Kreitz. 5. Slamming the ball, Carrie Gerold makes a point against Lutheran. 6. Lori Wilson sends up a prayer that the ball will stay up in the air.

Working as a Team

1. Jeanne Couvillion sends the ball on its way. 2. Stephanie Hurst: "Ooh! Ooh! Mr. Kotter!" 3. Varsity Volleyball Team: Top row: Georgia Tingirides, Leslie Franklin, Lilly Valencia, Kim Norman, Mrs. Sandi Searcy. Bottom row: Renee Hartung. Beverly Chan, Kathy Bihr, Jeanne Couvillion. Missing: Stephanie Hurst, Sharlene Page, Suzanne Yeaw. 4. Coach Sandi Searcy and Captain Suzanne Yeaw. 5. Encouragement is an important part of teamwork. 6. Kim Norman: "Stretch, stretch, reach for

In her fourth year here, Coach Sandi Searcy felt that it was a year for team growth. "It was fun and we grew a lot by experience," said Stephanie Hurst.

Unity was the main goal of the squad. This meant being able to work and play together well. "We grew closer and learned to work together as a team," said Renee Hartung. The second goal was to grow in their spiritual life. Searcy felt that unity could be obtained only by looking to Christ for strength. Lillian Valencia said, "It was a good season and even though it was not a winning season, we gave God the glory. We thanked Him because we learned through our failures." I Cor. 12:12 was the team verse.

Trend Runs On

Yes, they did it again! Another league championship in the bag. The J.V. Cross Country team buried their opponents in every meet. They proved to everyone they deserved the league championship. It all started in the summer at Big Bear Lake. They had a Cross Country Camp where they grew closer and set goals for the year. They also had their first experience in cooking for most of the guys. And they all appreciated their mother's cooking more when they got home. The were coached by Mr. Gary Pate who was in his third year of coaching. In their the meet with LA Baptist, the J.V. team can out victorious to clinch the league tit. They were the only W.C. team to beat Baptist and win the Olympic League Steven Hurst and Chris Aldama were to leading runners but it was a contribution the whole team that made the champions.

1. Front Row: Jeff Freville, Mike Moran, James Eli, Bill Mahoney, Doug Harpel. Back Row: Christopher Aldama, Ken Kondo. Not Pictured: Steve Cain. 2. James Eli: What form, what stride, what perfection! 3. Mike Moran and Sam Zug: "We don't want to run."

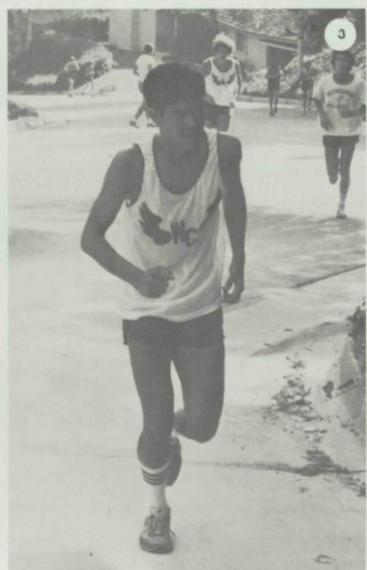

1. Christopher Aldama: Love those legs. 2. "On your marks, get set, GO!" 3. Ken Kondo: Strolling along. 4. Steven Hurst: "Up this hill and I'm through."

Downhill All the Way!

The Varsity Cross Country Team sported some impressive scores at the end of their virtually undefeated season. The Varsity squad, which is made up of one freshman, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, is the only minor sport that has gone to CIF every year since 1975.

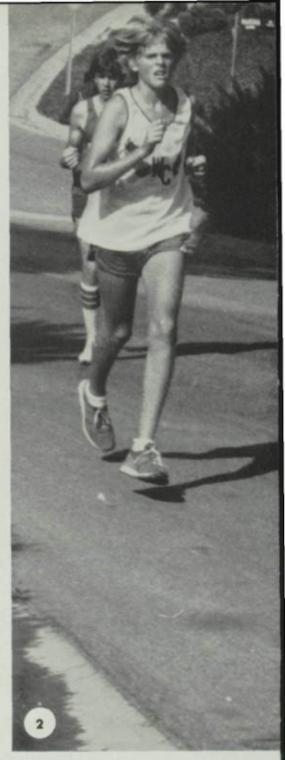

Troy McConnell, a senior and fouryear runner on the team, received the Most Valuable Player Award. Mr. Gary Pate, the coach of the Cross Country Team said that he could always count on Troy to come in first place in their meets. It would seem that those anticipations were valid since Troy did finish first in all but two meets. Troy improved steadily throughout the season and was running with what seemed to be no effort.

Jeff Moran, a junior, was decided upon as the Most Inspirational Player. Jeff had a very "unselfish attitude." His inspiration was a kind of quiet encouragement. He was always a gracious winner and a good loser. He was a great example for his teammates.

A freshman on the Varsity squad received the Most Improved Player Award. That freshman was Steve Wilch. He "always worked on improving his ability and showed the greatest amount of improvement." Steve moved from Jr. Varsity to Varsity runner and held that position most of the year.

1. With a flying leap, Jim Höltz gets ready for a head start. 2. Brad Peters: "Boy this hill is tough!" 3. In a meet against Western Christian, Troy McConnell is determined to get ahead. 6. Sam Zug takes a break at the water cooler. 7. Mr. Pate gets ready to roll out the "white carpet"

Girls Fast Forward It!

Cindy Cliff coached the Girls' Cross Country Team for her second year. Her team finished second in the Olympic League Finals proving her ability as a coach. Their league placement put them in the CIF finals, and there they finished seventh. Cindy is proud of her team. She said that they improved throughout the season and that it really showed up in the different invitationals.

Michelle Coopy was awarded Most Valuable Player. Michelle was also captain of her team. Julie Minjarez was voted the Most Inspirational Player; her good nature kept confidence in everyone. Cindy Blosse, a freshman, was awarded Most Improved Player.

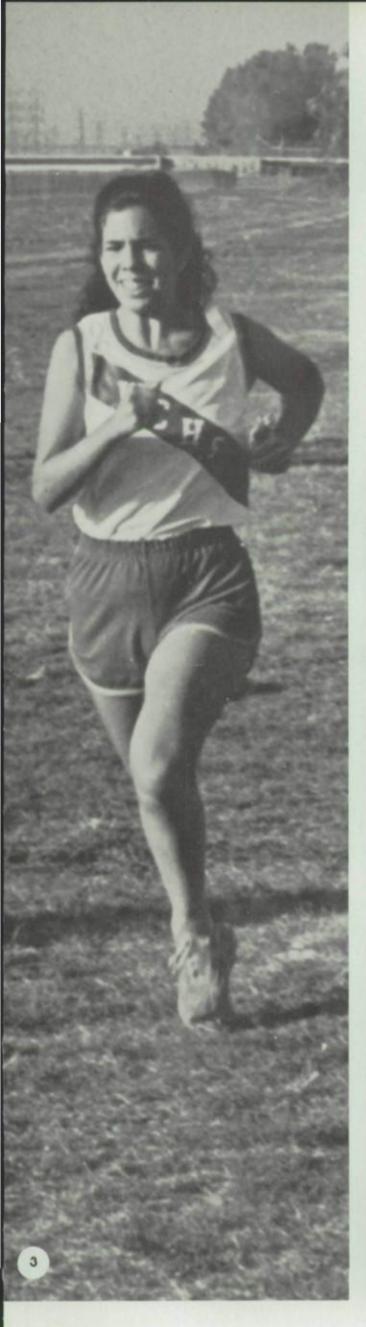

1. Jennifer Simpson: "I'm almost done!" 2. "It's been a long day," thinks Carol Coopy. 3. "This is rough," says Sandy Wark, "but I can do it." 4. Clndy Blosse goes for the home stretch. 6. Graceful as a swan, that's Michelle Coopy. 7. "OUCH! I stepped on a rock!" mutters Rebecca Rodriguez.

Successful Soccer Season!

"Good friendships and good unity make up very good teams." They were a hard working, gutsy team," said Coach Dave Herron who was in his second year of coaching the J.V. Soccer Team. Each player was a complement to the other. You could see this when at the end of the season the J.V.'s had landed first place in the Olympic League. One highlight of the season was giving Orange Lutheran their first loss of the season. Being able to play on their home field made things much more comfortable for the young Heralds: suddenly, fans had become spectators.

1. David Pill guards the ball with all his effort. 2. Soccer players need refreshment. Watergirls: Luli Sibauste and Anita Hurlburt. 3. Jeff Moran kicks his way to success. 4. # Soccer 1 Successfully Sought CIF

In their forth year of existence, the soccer team came alive. As the season came to a close, they had won their first round of the CIF playoffs against number 5 seated Brentwood. They ended the season there with an 8-3-3 record and placed second in the Olympic League. Mr. Mark Schrock, the head coach, and Mr. Barry Drake, the assistant coach, expressed pride in the team, "They were tough, and they worked well together."

Randy Freeman received the Most Valuable Player Award. "He was a real catalyst on the team and we're glad he will be coming back," said Coach Schrock. The Most Improved Player Award went to Anthony Gehl who had "become a strong player," and "a big help in the end." Although he didn't get a lot of playing time, Sam Zug was "definitely a support to the team." Coach Schrock said "it takes special character to have such a good attitude." It's no wonder that the Most Inspirational Award went to Sam Zug.

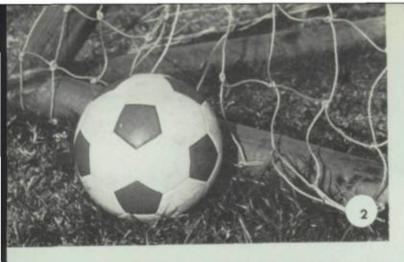

1. Everyone needs a break, right Ken? 2. Soccer is a ball! 3.Anthony Gehl and Jeff Morgan work together as a team. 4. "Oh YEA!" Tim Wharton's doing a good job. 5. #### Freshmen Battle Tough

Overtime, five seconds left, and one point away from the freshman basketball league championship. They did it!! Many of the players remember the game against L. A. Baptist the most: "We played better then our other games." "There was a big crowd with lots of enthusiasm." "We made a three-way tie for the championship." "We felt the excitement of winning!"

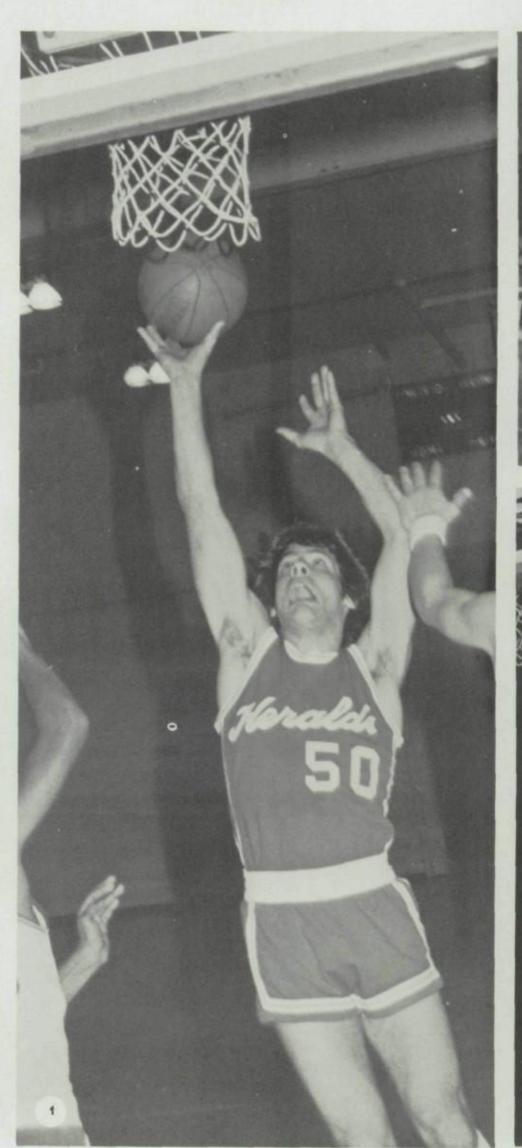

The championship did not come easy for the freshmen. Hard work and a strong will to win spelled the season. Starting early in the fall with intense conditioning, the team worked on building endurance. According to pointguard, Kevin Chavez, the conditioning exercises prevented them from tiring as easily as other teams and helped them in fast breaks.

There were two injuries during the season. Gabe Ramirez remembers the home game against Brethren, "We beat them by one point!" Gabe injured his wrist in the away game against Brethren which the team lost by six points. He was out for two games and really wanted to win the Brethren home game. Unknowingly, Tom Lynch played in the last two games of the season with a broken foot.

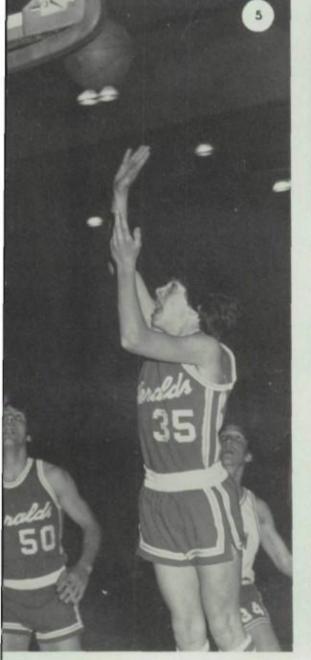

Coach Bob Brown expressed his appreciation for the hard-working team. He felt they had a better understanding of the sport than previous teams he had coached.

1. Is Tom Lynch pushing the ball back up the basket? 2. Phil Herrera plays rough defense. 3. Dan Swanner skies high above his Lutheran opponent to score two points. 4. Dave Murrane: "Look, mom, I can do it with one hand!" 5. Tim Hedrick: "The wider I open my mouth, the better chance the ball will go in." 6. Freshman team: Top Row: Dean Reihm, John Valadez, Paul Whittington, Gabe Ramirez, Tom Lynch, Dan Swanner, Robert Moore. Defeating Valley at home was the highlight of the year for the JV Basket-ball team. One basket made it a victory for the Heralds. "We lost to them in a tournament and we wanted to win this game bad," said Rodney Cowan. "We finally beat them!" Dan Elliot commented.

Coach Phil Underwood not only helped the team to victory on the court, but also in their spiritual lives. Praying before and after practices and games, the team stressed glorifying God through their play. Being more than a coach, Underwood encouraged lasting friendships among team members. Time was also spent in eating together before games and having shootarounds on Saturdays.

During the summer, the team went to a basketball camp in Prescott, Arizona to work on improving their skills. Practices in the morning led up to games in the afternoon. Schools from other states opposed them in the scrimmages.

Varsity Jams League

Fingertip pushups, jumprope, bench drills, fast break drills and much more hard work and training required discipline and dedication from the varsity basketball team. Their determination paid off as they defeated one team after another for a 22-2 overall record.

During the summer, all the team members went to Arizona for a basketball camp. There, for the second year in a row, they won all the games. A 21-hour train ride took the team to Oregon during Christmas break. Many of the players were not feeling well when they played their first game against Mazama High whom they beat by 13 points. The next day they defeated Klamath High and were honored with local TV news coverage. James Gabriel commented that he felt strange as people whispered about "the basketball players from California.

Those Californians went back home to win the league championship. Several of the players think of the away game against L. A. Baptist as the most outstanding. David Jeck recalls, "The fans were screaming so loud that I couldn't hear the ball bounce when I made a free throw." They won by three points in overtime.

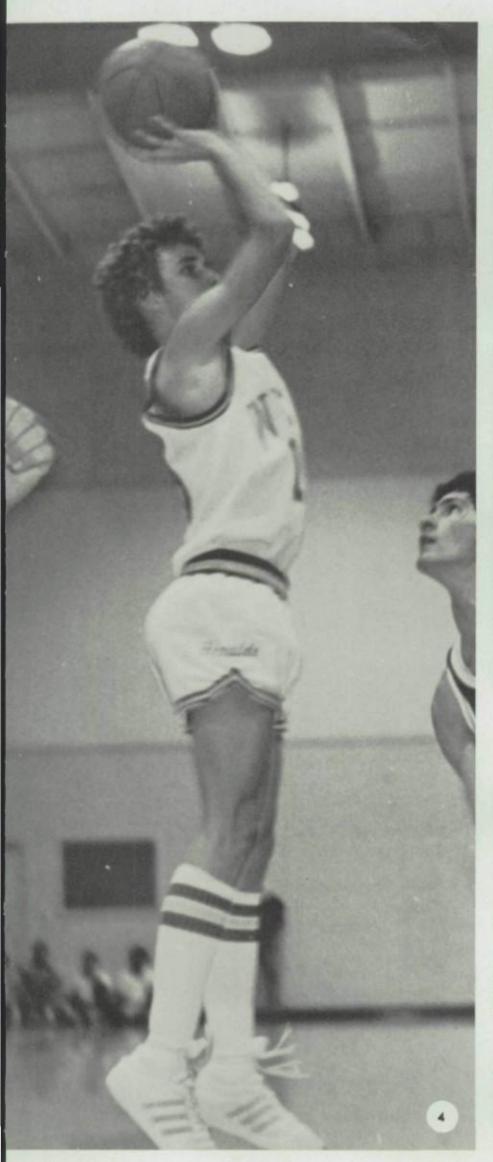

Everyone will remember the last game this team played. They had gone into the CIF playoffs, and were matched against Nelles at Whittier College. Disappointment struck as the team struggled for a victory but was haulted in their move toward the CIF championship with a score of 59-54.

 Coach Cuccia goes over team strategy.

Superman (Scott Farris) flies in for two points.

Girls' Varsity Basketball Encounters Frustration

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team excelled, bringing their final season record to 7-8. Unity was an outstanding feature in their successful season, which was highlighted by their double victory over Brethren. "We all felt close and really played well together," said Sue Healan. Through the coaching skill of Miss Nadene Ruhe, the team learned the importance of having a good defense and running plays smoothly. Throughout the year, the girls learned to play competitive basketball and how to enjoy themselves and have fun at the same time.

1. Judy Balogh versus the samural basketball player. 2. Sue Healan shoots over the opposition. 3. Kim Norman shoots a quick pass down the sideline. 4. Judy Balogh makes a nice jump shor. 5. Team: Judy Balogh, Stephanie Hurst, Renee Hartung, Sue Healan, Susan Endresen, Sandy Gilson, Danielle Boyd, Kim Norman, Tammi Straite.

Girls' JV Basketball Struggles Through Season

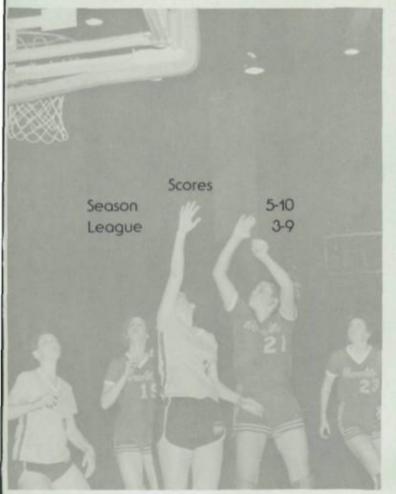

The Girls' Junior Varsity Basketball team had a profitable year, picking up towards the end of the season and climaxing in their victory over Western in the last game. "I learned how to really concentrate and be aware of the position of each player on the court at all times," said Julie Minjarez and added, "It was a blast." During the season, the players learned how to work together and function well on the court. "I learned the importance of teamwork and sportsmanship on the court." stated Thea Aldama. Working with their coach, Cindy Cliff, the girls learned not only the fundamentals of basketball, but also such skills as teamwork, that will enable them to succeed in other areas of their lives.

Wrestlers Make Weight

Fewer candy bars were being eaten as wrestling season came upon us. "Making weight IS difficult, but when you want it bad enough, it's easier," said Steve Arroyo, captain of the wrestling team.

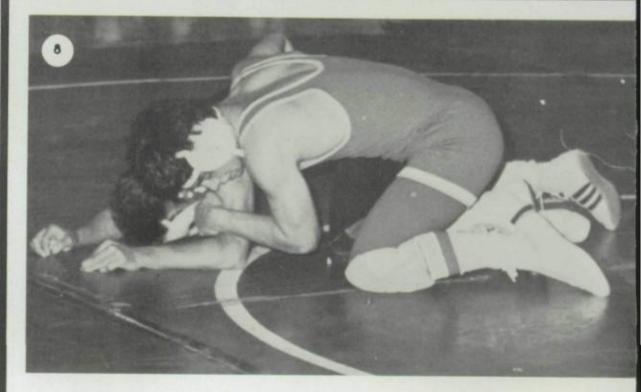

Twenty-two returning wrestlers helped to make up the team of 29. Four-year varsity wrestler and two-year captain. Steve Arroyo received the Most Outstanding Player Award. Arroyo also went to CIF three times in his four year career; this was a "first" accomplishment in the history of the school. The Most Improved Player Award went to freshman, Dave Halverson who was in his first year of wrestling on the varsity level. Dave was also in the first round of CIF playoffs. The Outstanding Freshman Award went to Chris Wendell: "He really showed a lot of ability." The most prestigious award, the Coaches Award, went to Danny Sanchez who was in his second year of varsity wrestling. The Coaches Award winner was voted on specifically by the coaches: Mr. George Barchi, and Mr. Will Wilson. It went to the player who was considered the best allaround wrestler. Danny also went to CIF's first round of wrestling.

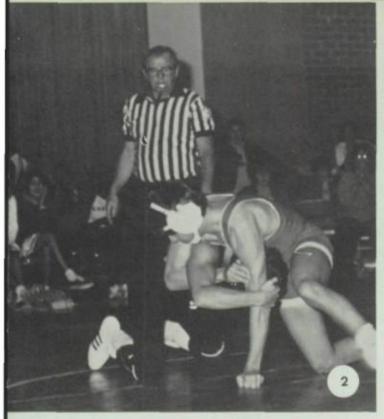

Everyone agrees that the biggest event and the happiest time was when the Heralds won first place in the Melodyland Tournament which took place at the beginning of the season. Many of the wrestlers left the tournament with bronze and silver medals; Bill Chambers, Danny Sanchez, and Steve Arroyo (who also received the "Quickest Pin" trophy) came away with gold medals for winning first place in their particular weight class.

1. Steve Arroyo works hard on a quick pin. 2. Brian Bowlin leans his mighty arm for support. . Statisticians: Cammie Chambers and Lisa Methot. 7. Oops, which end is up, Casey Carroll? 8. Mr. Arroyol This is not time to be taking a nap!! 9. "Getting ready for the attack is the hardest thing," says Brian Bowlin. 10. David DeMille takes the upper hand and lets his opponent know who has really got control.

Zot Ball Award Initiated

"To encourage and uplift each other for the glory of the Lord," was the attitude J.V. Baseball displayed, according to Coach Doug Domene.

Although the team did not have a specific verse, they did have times to study the Bible together. Going through different character qualities, they viewed them in light of God's Word.

Helping to fulfill the goals of: 1) winning the championship and 2) seeing an improvement were Vance McGee, Todd Molter, Mike Fuentes, Keith Anderson, and Jim Brown. With the guidance of Coach Domene and Assistant Coach Dave Herron they added strength to the team throughout the season.

The Zot Ball Award was initiated to encourage aggressive playing. At the end of each game, this award was given to the team member who made an outstanding play. He would then get to keep the game ball and warm up with it for the next game.

Another strike for Jim Brown. 2. Todd Molter makes a running carch against Sierra Vista. 3. Tony Dunn watches the ball fly to right field for a triple.

Varsity Baseball's Optomistic Outlook

Brookhurst Park, Boysen Park, and Glover Stadium were the sights for the Varsity Baseball home games. Because there was more than one location, this discouraged fan participation. In spite of this problem, co-coaches Don Steward and Tom Caffrey felt optomistic about the season with the returning players: Daniel Adent, Dennis Briley, Phil Grace, Dave Jones, Richard Lehn, and Jeff Morgan.

Coach Steward chose Proverbs 24:19-20 as the team verse because he felt it would motivate them to go out and play to the best of their ability. Their rewards would come when they kept their eyes on God.

Four key players were Phil Grace, captain, for his moral support, Richard Lehn for his defensive strength, and Dave Jones for power at the plate. Being recruited for his pitching ability, Dennis Briley was sought after by Arizona State University and Cal State Fullerton.

1. Dennis Briley shows fine form as he strikes a player out. 2. Outfielder Richie Lehn looks for a hit against Cathedral. 3. Dave Jones fires one home. 4. Stat girls Tami Slick and Sharon Packard. 5. Phil Grace gives the signals for the next pitch. 6. David Rabin stretches for a save against Cathedral. 7. Coach Don Steward. 8. Captain Phil Grace. 9. Coach Tom Caffrey. 10. Front Row: Richard Lehn, Matt Schwartz, Rod Pope, David Rabin, Rusty Coffelt, Mark Redden, Dennis Briley.

Softball Hits Hard

La Mirada Regional Park was the location for Junior Varsity Softball games. One of the five goals for the team members was to be able to communicate, cooperate and congratulate. Even though the team basicly consisted of freshmen they had an outstanding season. The team had several key players including Sarah Beattie, Michelle Loomis and Toni Roybal. Sarah for her excellent pitching, Michelle for her affective playing in centerfield and catcher, and Toni for her quickness at shortstop. The team played to the best of their ability and as if God was the only one in the stands. With the coaching of Mrs. Sandi Searcy the team pulled together for a fantastic year.

1. Laurie Wilson slides into home plate. 2. Sarah Beattle winds up for the pitch. 3. Heather Yeager: "Oh, my aching knees!" 4. Swinging away for a single is Michelle Loomis. 5. WC's defense gets ready for a force-out at third base. 6. Renee Schaub: "Come on, throw me the ball." 7. Front Row: Cindy Blossey, Lisa Barnthouse, Michelle Cluck, Lisa Liscano, Toni Roybal, Heather Yeager.

Torrance Tournament Challenges

In her fifth year of coaching Varsity Softball, Ruth Sutton felt that the team played their very best to honor the Lord and assistant Coach Melvin Burns agreed. Entering the Torrance Tournament was a change for the team but proved to be a challenge. The strong players were outstanding outfielder Karen States, strong shortstop Lori Barber, power pitcher Debbie Herd and consistent catcher captain Danielle Boyd. The team excelled strongly in league.

1. Karen States prepares for another towering homerun. 2. Is Karen States safe at third? 3. Lori Barber . . . all the way home. 4. Debbie "Bird" Herd winds her wing for another strike. 5. Leslie Franklin: "Oh Nol I forgot to touch the bag!" 6. Varsity team: Top Row: Asst. Front Row: Leslie Franklin, Jackie MacDonald, Therese Barker, Karen States, Tammi Straite, Tracey Balchowsky. 7. Tracey Balchowsky: "I wonder if I'll make it to second." 8. Lori Barber takes a good cut.

Runnin' to the Occasion

Gary Pate, distance coach, and Steve Endemano, sprints and field events coach, felt the track team was very promising. The guys encouraged each other and worked well together as a team. There were several CIF hopefuls: Greg Herd in the hurdles event; Richard States in the 440 and 220; and Ron Wilch for the 2 mile run.

The schools that were the toughest competitors for the guys were L.A. Baptist, and Valley Christian.

The team competed with both public and private schools. Usually there was only one other team competing in a meet, but there were two invitationals where many teams were competing.

As a means of motivation for the guys, the coaches encouraged prayer. It gave them personal encouragement, even when things were looking down.

Altogether there were 30 team members. There was a Varsity team, and a Freshman-Sophomore team. Their goal was to win the league title.

Track Takes It on the Run

The year looked good for the Girls' Varsity Track Team. With a total of 29 girls, 9 of them being freshmen, the team was very promising. Two new events were added: the 300 low hurdles event, and the triple jump event.

Miss Nadene Ruhe, and Miss Cindy Cliff were the coaches. This was Miss Ruhe's fifth year of coaching.

The team competed with only one other school during a meet. Their biggest threats were Lutheran and Valley.

Even though track is an individual competitive sport rather than a team, there was a closeness among the girls. They were an encouragement to each other, concerned with improvement, rather than with what the final score was.

Miss Ruhe was very hopeful for two of her girls to go to CIF. These girls were Beverly Chan for the 100 meter race, and the long jump; and Jennifer Simpson for the 800 meter race.

Even the sport of track was applied to the girls' spiritual lives. In between the races, it gave them an opportunity to share their faith with others. They had the chance to "display Christ-like attitudes such as encouragement, self-discipline, and committment." The track team always strove to give their best in whatever they did.

1. Sprinters and Field Events — Back Row: Deena Boyd, Arlene Gomez, Shari Hefft, Jennifer Williams, Laura Cummings, Beverly Chan, Anne Stuard. Bottom Row: Linda Fierro, Aleida Krietz, Nancy Palmer, Cathy Ladd, Ruth Narro. 2. Julie Thompson keeps up a steady pace. 3. Ruth Allan: "It feels like I'm flying." 4. Karen Adnoff hands the baton off to Aleida Krietz. 5. Cheree Lynch takes a giant leap for mankind. 6. Coaches Ruhe and Cliff: "Track is such an inspiration that we can't help smilling." 7. Long Distance runners — Back Row: Laura Narro, Cheryl Kienel, Lynne Ellis, Julie Minjarez, Cheree Lynch, Ruth Narro. Bottom Row: Jackie Lehn, Caroline Garcia, Janice DiBlasio — stat girl, Julie Regnier, Jennifer Simpson, Not pictured: Karen Adnoff, Sue Endresen, Carrie Gerold, Julie Thompson, Liz Mena, Cathy Redden, Susan Reed, Rebecca Rodriguez, Thea Aldama — stat girl.

Dear Scott.

Tears of joy come as we reminisce back to the first day you went to school and came home saying you learned that A says "a". We were thrilled the first time your picture appeared on the front page of the Anaheim Bulletin as 1st place winner portraying Ben Franklin, in the Famous American Day Contest. We shared your enthusiasm as you participated in Pop Warner Football, Boy's Club Basketball, Little League, Majors, and Pony Baseball. Then came the exciting Brethren Jr. High football and basketball games (remember the team in the old Ford station wagon??). As always, keeping your grades up so you could be on the honor roll was important to you, you were, and still are, so conscientious.

And now, graduation time is here and we want you to know that we are so proud of you and your accomplishments.

Scott, the best advice we can give you as you begin this new era of your life comes right from God's Word: "Always remember to keep on believing the things you have been taught. You know how, when you were a small child, you were taught the Holy Scriptures; and it is these that make you wise to accept God's salvation by trusting in Christ Jesus." 2 Timothy 3:14-15 LB

'Be delighted with the Lord: then He will give you all your heart's desires. Commit everything you do to the Lord. Trust Him to help you do it, and He will." Ps. 37:4-5 LB

We love you very much Scott, and are so proud to call you "Son."

THE MARTIN FAMILY

To our older daughter Charissa: Congratulations, sweetheart!

Graduating from high school is one of your first major milestones in this journey called life. We commend you for your diligence and your faithfulness. You have accomplished twelve years of schooling and, hopefully, the deposits you have made in your bank of memories are happy ones.

We smile as we reflect upon these eighteen years since God graced our home with your tiny frame--such a fragile, feminine bundle of life! From your earliest days you have impressed and amazed us with your sweet disposition and sensitive spirit. Those big eyes dancing with excitement and those quick little feet accelerating you through the house with hardly a sound warned us then that we had on our hands a busy little lady with plans of her own. But your style has never been one of force or rebellion. The Lord made you tender, quiet, affectionate, and anxious to please. Thanks for cultivating these rare qualities so needed in our fast-paced world of selfishness and rugged individualism.

With high school behind you, you now move out of the calm, protective waters of the harbor. A vast ocean of new experiences and challenges awaits you. The currents and waves are also there--even some storms which you must learn to weather on your own. As we release you, we ask you to remember the things we have attempted to teach and to model . . . too numerous to mention yet too important to ignore. They will help you keep your boat on course, and maybe they will even make the journey more enjoyable.

Always remember our most treasured desire is that you become an authentic woman of God, one whose walk is marked by maturity and whose talk is seasoned with grace. The process has begun, darling, and our prayer is that it will never end. Keep pursuing true godliness.

We believe in you, Charissa, and as long as we live, we will be committed to your highest good. Our love for you knows no bounds, and our confidence in you remains firm, no matter how deep the ocean or how high the waves or how long the journey.

With gratitude for your life,

Mom and Dad

Chuck and Cynthia Devendoll

Laura Blackmer, What a joy you have been to our family. It has been exciting to watch strive y o u academically; enjoy the fellowship with your friends; and most importantly grow close to the Lord.

We pray that you will continue to seek the Lord's richest blessing for your life; trusting Him and allowing Him to direct your day and day work.

> With much love, Mom & Rick Cheryl & Chuck

To Dave Hart,

Congratulations for the way you've completed the past 12 years. We love you very much and are proud of you. You've excelled in academics and athletics, but even more important is your excellence in living God's Word. Continue in that. "In everything you do, put God first, and He will direct you and crown your efforts with success . . . Have two goals: wisdom - that is knowing and doing right - and common sense. Don't let them slip away, for they will fill you with living energy ... They will keep you safe from defeat and disaster and from stumbling off the trail. With them on guard you can sleep without fear . . . for the Lord is with you." (Proverbs 3:21-26 LB)

"I have no greater joy than this, to hear of my children walking in the truth." (3 John 4 NAS)

Dear Jill Hitchcock,

Soon your high school days will be over and you will be seeking new arenas in life. Wherever you go and whatever you do, never lose sight of the need for fellowship with God. Life will be empty, Jill, without His love and guidance. Live your life to glorify Him and seek His will as you set your goals.

As you talk about the future and dream of what life has in store for you, the words below express the feelings in my heart -

You're one of the greatest blessings God had given me, Jill. You're very special.

editor's Note

When a group wants to take off in a hot-air balloon, another group of people are needed to help them lift off from the ground. Without them, it would be extremely difficult to get the balloon moving up. That is why I would like to take this space to thank all those people who helped our "yearbook balloon" get off the ground. Thanks to John Danielson for the full color photo on the title page, and to Dave Jones for the ski club pictures. Extra-special thanks to Charles Meyer for his hours of volunteer work and to Darrin Kemp for his printing help and moral support. I would also like to express appreciation to the parents who supported the staff, especially those who allowed their sons and daughters to stay for late worknights. And last, but definitely not least, thanks to the student body for your great expression and posing ability! It was an exciting year to be on staff. Each member contributed a lot to the book and they are all very special to me.

I hope everyone enjoys this yearbook. Whether it contains memories of your freshmen, sophomore, junior, or senior year, they will be yours forever. When you look back through the book several years from now, it is my prayer that you will have seen your life "move-up" this year, and that it will continue to "move-up." In Colossians 3:1 it says, "If then you have been raised up with Christ, keep seeking the things above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God." Jesus has lifted me up — how about you?!

Mr. Mact - (Please foregive my spelling, I almost failed the English final for of) I want to thank you for the help, quidence, and friendship that you have given me over the past few years. Il remember when it first that you when I was a freshmen. It was during the wrestling season. I had purposly lagged behind everyone else because il was so afraid of the comming practice! I was comming down the possesquay of grand old Shovedale in tears and you took me into your office and reasoured me that executthing was going to be all right. From, that day on il linear that I had at least one friend yover where the other half lived! It really made me feel good after that to actually see you at practice suffering it though with me. Though my sophonore and Junior years I know you weed always there to talk to in case il needed thelp. To top it all of il was able areat and that filled man you are you have left a testimony that will be forgotten. I admire you that will be forgotten. I admire you greatly and it is sad for me to hear that you are leaving this yell. P. S. Heep in touch. John Lythwars for Josh 1: 9
